

FROM Office of Rep. Carl Albert (D-Okla.), Room H-148, The Capitol, Washington, D. C.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The bill which the House of Representatives has passed has been amended in many particulars since it was first drafted by the House Committee and received national attention. Its purpose is to try to eliminate second class citizenship and to preserve the rights of all Americans. As passed, it is substantially different from drafts of the legislation which have been discussed in various pamphlets that have been circulated throughout the country. The House has been considering this bill for months. I think the time has come to submit it for the consideration of the U. S. Senate, where doubtless many other changes will be made before the bill is finally enacted into law. It is my belief that when the bill is in its final form, it will be beneficial to the nation and will meet <sup>with</sup> the approval of the majority of the people of Oklahoma and the Third Congressional District.

FROM Office of Rep. Carl Albert (D-Okla.), Room H-148, The Capitol, Washington, D. C.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The bill which the House of Representatives has passed has been amended in many particulars since it was first drafted by the House Committee and received national attention. Its purpose is to try to eliminate second class citizenship and to preserve the rights of all Americans. As passed, it is substantially different from drafts of the legislation which have been discussed in various pamphlets that have been circulated throughout the country. The House has been considering this bill for months. I think the time has come to submit it for the consideration of the U. S. Senate, where doubtless many other changes will be made before the bill is finally enacted into law. It is my belief that when the bill is in its final form, it will be beneficial to the nation and will meet <sup>with</sup> the approval of the majority of the people of Oklahoma and the Third Congressional District.

has

The bill which the House of Representatives <sup>has</sup> passed has been amended in many particulars since it was first drafted by the <sup>House</sup> committee and received national attention. Its purpose is to try to eliminate second class citizenship and <sup>to</sup> preserve

As passed, it is substantially different from drafts of the legislation which have been discussed in various pamphlets that have been circulated throughout the country. The House has been considering this bill for months. I think the time has come to submit it for the consideration of the U. S. Senate, where doubtless many other changes will be made before the bill is finally enacted into law. It is my <sup>belief</sup> ~~judgment~~ that <sup>when the bill is</sup> ~~it~~ <sup>it</sup> will be beneficial to the nation and will meet with the approval of the majority of the people of Oklahoma and the Third Congressional district.

the rights of all Americans.

Like <sup>all</sup> ~~any~~ bill which deals with broad subjects the Congressmen in the House members of the House in this instance were faced with

Like

FROM Office of Rep. Carl Albert (D-Okla.), Room H-148, The Capitol, Washington, D. C.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The bill which the House of Representatives has passed has been amended in many particulars since it was first drafted by the House Committee and received national attention. Its purpose is to try to eliminate second class citizenship and to preserve the rights of all Americans. As passed, it is substantially different from drafts of the legislation which have been discussed in various pamphlets that have been circulated throughout the country. The House has been considering this bill for months. I think the time has come to submit it for the consideration of the U. S. Senate, where doubtless many other changes will be made before the bill is finally enacted into law. It is my belief that when the bill is in its final form, it will be beneficial to the nation and will meet <sup>with</sup> the approval of the majority of the people of Oklahoma and the Third Congressional District.

FROM Office of Rep. Carl Albert (D-Okla.), Room H-148, The Capitol, Washington, D. C.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The bill which the House of Representatives has passed has been amended in many particulars since it was first drafted by the House Committee and received national attention. Its purpose is to try to eliminate second class citizenship and to preserve the rights of all Americans. As passed, it is substantially different from drafts of the legislation which have been discussed in various pamphlets that have been circulated throughout the country. The House has been considering this bill for months. I think the time has come to submit it for the consideration of the U. S. Senate, where doubtless many other changes will be made before the bill is finally enacted into law. It is my belief that when the bill is in its final form, it will be beneficial to the nation and will meet <sup>with</sup> the approval of the majority of the people of Oklahoma and the Third Congressional District.