Dear Mrs. Copeland:

Your letter of February 12, relating to labor strikes, has been received in the absence of Congressman Schwabe, who is in Tulsa for a few days to attend the wedding of his only daughter. I shall bring your letter to his attention immediately upon his return to Washington.

While I cannot speak for the Congressman, you may be assured that he is not in sympathy with the racketeer type of labor leader, as evidenced by the fact that he supported and voted for the passage of the Case Bill at every step of the proceedings. This bill was strenuously fought by the labor leaders, from start to finish. While the Case Bill passed the House, there seems to be considerable doubt that it will pass the Senate, where it is now pending. Perhaps if enough of our citizens write their Senators, urging support of this bill to curb the labor racketeers, it's chances of passage there might be increased.

Assuring you of Congressman Schwabe's appreciation of the interest and public spirit of persons like yourself who take the trouble to write their Congressmen, I am

Sincerely yours,

A. L. Warren, Secretary

Tulsa, Oklahoma,
February 12, 1946.

Representative George Schwabe,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Schwabe:

The law abiding citizens of your district are demanding that labor strikes be prohibited by legislation, at once. The so called privilege of striking has been grossly abused, and should be withdrawn.

Make Unions liable for all damage ensuing from strikes, and the racketeer leaders will not find profitable the exploitation of labor.

Do not let this Frankenstein destroy us!

Yours Truly,
Berenice M. Copeland.
